2.5 After loving two of Susan Hill's other ghost stories- The Woman In Black and The Man in the Picture- THE MIST IN THE MIRROR was a little disappointing... though it does follow pretty much the same formula as the other two for the most part... It starts in London on a dark and stormy night.

The Mist in the Mirror by Susan Hill - Goodreads

Susan Hill writes an atmospheric but perplexing tale about a bachelor-traveller returning from years abroad to get swallowed up in the murk and mist of an occult 'imperator'. That sense of the wilderness of the past, its impregnability and the reluctance of others to tell about it, is carried off very convincingly.

The Mist in the Mirror - Wikipedia

The text we're using is an extract from Susan Hill's 'Mist in the Mirror'. It's a fairly 'routine' piece of atmospheric writing, the kind we expect from Mrs Woman in Black. However, it's effective for its overall structure (which we will look at in lessons) and use of language. There are also some effectively long sentences which capture the sense of anxiety, paranoia and nervousness of the narrator as he chases shadows through an old university library.
